Using Flash SlideShow Maker you can create an easy-to-use slideshow from your images, music and text. At the end of the process you can publish the slideshow as a

SWF file, as a HTML file or as a FIV file. You can also make the slideshow available via a Web page or through CD or DVD. Presentations are found all over the Internet nowadays and mainly in the form of slideshows. Creating one is easily done with specialized applications. Flash SlideShow Maker is a handy and reliable application that allows you to create a slideshow from image files, and add music to it. Select and customize pictures you want to use The user-friendly interface begins with a wizard to help rookies get started. A project mainly consists of three steps: add photos, select theme, and publish. Once you have added images, you can edit their information (title, URL, description), transition effect (preview mode is not available), transition duration and show duration. Plus, you can add text and clip art, and the images can be rotated. Various customization possibilities The theme option lets you decorate your images with various objects (again, preview mode is not available), after which you must specify the output folder, Flash file name, HTML file name, and save your work. But working with Flash SlideShow Maker outside the wizard offers you more options. You can easily browse and import images by using File Explorer, get a preview on sample transitions, define a random set of transitions, and add background music in the Theme section. Design a slideshow to blend with your website Furthermore, you can switch to advanced theme mode to create a set of image files and a XML file (the basic theme creates a single SWF file) - which is recommended for displaying photo galleries on websites. Here you can preview effects and transitions applied to images (as they appear in an online photo gallery), but also customize properties (e.g. background color, enable link, background music loop). Publishing options allow you to create a Flash file only, make a gift or presentation CD or DVD, or create Flash files and upload them to SkyAlbum.com. Good but with a few flaws Some of the software's effects are really good, while others seem childish (e.g. ArtClip). Unfortunately, Flash SlideShow Maker does not allow you to preview slideshows while you are creating them (you can only view the final product), and it adds the software logo at the end of the slideshow (in demo mode). Also, we would have liked the possibility of quickly editing images and audio. To end with In conclusion, if you want to create a slideshow in a few simple steps, then you can try Flash SlideShow Maker. With a friendly interface it lets you instantly accommodate while available features make sure each slideshow comes out different. Presentations are found all over the
